Flash is a team composed of product designers and technical developers, mainly dedicated to the development of outdoor power supply for mobile devices.

Flash was founded by the designer-henry who graduated from MSU Media Academy. It mainly provides users with a complete closed-loop service of rent-charge-return. The company's main product is an outdoor mobile power bank, which consists of many power banks and a large box (used for renting, returning and charging equipment). With the rapid development of the times, people use mobile phones more and more frequently, and many devices cannot support long-term outdoor power consumption, so the products launched by our company are very suitable for such customers.
